Summary:

Eleven wakes up in the Upside Down, having saved her friends from the Demogorgon. All she had to do was escape, and she could be with Mike again...

You're Mine

Eleven woke up, coughing and spitting out some sort of liquid. She remembered killing the Demogorgon, and everything went dark. Slowly getting off the floor, the room looked like it did before, except everything was more blue, and there were vines along the walls.

“Mike?” She weakly called out, staggering out of the room. She felt so tired, more than she ever had before when using her powers. Leaning against a wall, she took a moment to catch her breath, unaware she was being watched. She couldn’t stop shivering, her body wet and cold, and decided to get outside.

Walking through the school’s hallways, she couldn’t hold back tears, missing the safety of Mike, his kind eyes and soothing voice. El felt something wrap around her wrists and ankles, before she was lifted into the air, arms and legs spread out. She screamed, trying to use her powers, but she was too drained to do anything.

“No!” El yelled, before a vine shoved itself into her open mouth, choking her. Two more started sucking on her nipples through her dress, releasing a substance that started melting her clothing. More vines appeared, showering her body in the substance, and soon enough she was completely naked, moaning in pleasure. Vines pushed their way into her ass and pussy, covered in the substance.

“MMM” She screamed around the vine still in her mouth, eyes rolling into the back of her head, body writhing in absolute pleasure. Unknown to her, the liquid not only dissolved clothing, it also acted as an aphrodisiac, enhancing her pleasure, and making her more compliant with the creatures of the Upside Down.

Opening her eyes, she could see someone walking down the hall, right towards her. When the figure got closer, she realized it was Will, completely naked, looking right at her naked body being ravaged. Suddenly, she felt like she had to pee, and felt something release from her cunt, dripping onto the floor.

Being gently lowered to the ground, the vines left her, and Will kneeled beside her, watching her chest rise and fall with her heavy breathing, recovering from her first ever orgasm. El gasped, feeling him pinch her erect nipples, twisting and pulling on them.

“Will...” She moaned out, struggling to keep her eyes open, arching her back when she felt one of his hands rub against her wet pussy. He climbed on top of her, sheathing his dick in her pussy, leaning down and kissing her. She kissed back, moaning into his mouth, wrapping her arms around his neck, never wanting him to leave.

“Join us.” He whispered into her ear, picking up speed, close to releasing inside her. She nodded as best as she could, wrapping her legs around him, wanting to feel him in her more and more.

“Yes!” El cried out, feeling him hit something deep inside her, causing her to squirt. Eyes rolling, tongue sticking out, she finally passed out from the pleasure and exhaustion.

Will roughly kissed her, practically trying to suck her soul out, cumming straight into her womb. Groping her budding breasts, he continued to fuck her, the Mind Flayer having enhanced his body past human limits.

By the end of the session of fucking, El's stomach was swelling with the amount of cum in her womb, and when he removed himself, it started shooting out of her pussy like a geyser.

Picking her up and carrying her bridal style, he left the building to head outside, where his Master was waiting for him. Stopping in the middle of the field, he gently lowered her naked body to the ground, watching as the grass almost seemed to caress her, as if alive.

Groaning weakly, El opened her eyes to see she was outside, but still in the Upside Down. Looking up, her eyes widened, seeing some sort of large shadow monsters hovering menacingly in the air. Scrambling backwards, she collided with something, looking behind her to see it was Will.

"No..." El softly muttered, shaking her head, watching as tendrils of moving shadow advanced upon her. Soon her entire body was enveloped in them, and she felt like her entire being was getting molested, her brain being caressed by a cold presence.

Once the shadows receded, it revealed El laying on the ground, gasping for breath. The entity in the sky, satisfied with its work, slowly departed, leaving its two servants to themselves.

Will sat in front of her, looking at her in a twisted sort of love, and she smiled at him, leaning forward to kiss him passionately. Running her hands through his soft hair, she never wanted to be anywhere else.

She didn't ever want to leave her home...
